

MANDELL JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTRE

The Seltzer/Katzman family has had a continuous connection to the JCC for close to 60 years - with three Board members since 1975, four ECC students (past and present) and many campers.

1915
LEGACY SOCIETY

Since 1915, the Mandell JCC has been opening doors to better lives. The 1915 Legacy Society is an opportunity for us to create a gift of permanence, and to be a part of something great. This intentional program will create a pipeline of bequests that will endow and support the JCC for future generations.

The permanent endowments created by these bequests will be held in trust at the Jewish Community Foundation, sustaining a vibrant Mandell JCC and the rest of our Hartford Jewish community in perpetuity. Legacy giving is the ultimate expression of your values and your belief in the future of our JCC and local Jewish community. A legacy gift of any size can be designed for your personal financial circumstances.

An active member of Café Europa, 91-year-old Edith Denes leads the way for four generations of the Swaye/McDermott family at the JCC.

Three generations of the Raisners have stayed healthy and fit at the JCC, at Camp Shalom, on the Sharks Swim Team, and at the JCC Maccabi Games

The Wexler family has a four generation history at the JCC, with patriarch Al most enjoying his visits to his great-granddaughters' Julia and Abby's ECC classrooms after his workouts in the fitness center.

Three generations of the Little family are familiar faces at the JCC's front desk, the ECC classroom and lifeguarding at the pool.

Our plans, our goals, our dreams... they don't just happen.

For over 100 extraordinary years, the Mandell Jewish Community Center has been a vital resource that has enriched all aspects of Greater Hartford. By providing the most comprehensive range of services and recreational, cultural, educational and social programs under one roof, the JCC promotes physical, intellectual and spiritual well-being and the betterment of the community.

The role of the JCC is invaluable, with its brilliant past and bright plans for the future. A one-of-a-kind location-informed by universal Jewish values and welcoming and open to everyone - the Mandell JCC offers personal growth opportunities, transformative experiences, camaraderie and a connection to community for all. We build cultural identity and bridges of understanding by celebrating diversity and fostering appreciation for Jewish culture and heritage.

As a not-for-profit organization, the Mandell JCC depends on your generous support.

We're all in tomorrow together. With a bequest to the 1915 Legacy Society, you will guarantee that the many vital and meaningful programs our members, friends and neighbors depend on will continue to be here for future generations.
